

Leadership Training - Commuter guidelines

The Commuter rate was created to accommodate local participants who would benefit by staying at their own home and coming in daily to attend the training portion.

Previously, we have not allowed participants to stay offsite while attending the training. We find there is benefit for participants to be wholly set apart for this time, the dynamics of which can be disrupted by coming/going from home. You are encouraged to remain onsite for the duration of each day, leaving to go home only after the evening session ends.

As an applicant requesting to stay at your home while attending the training you will need to agree and adhere to the following guidelines. Failure to do so will render your participation in the training incomplete.

1. You must attend every session, being present from the beginning to the end of each one, including the time of musical worship.
2. You will not be provided lodging onsite and will be limited only to use of the common areas of the training facility.
3. Your training fee includes meals and you are welcome to join us at every meal. We understand that you may not want to participate in every meal and are not required to do so.
4. We ask that you not bring visitors with you to the training, nor take other training participants home with you.

As an applicant requesting the Commuter option, I understand, agree with and will adhere to the above guidelines. I understand my failure to comply with them will render my participation in the training incomplete.
